History of PHI BETA SIGMA FRATERNITY, INC.

HON. A. LANGSTON TAYLOR

HON. LEONARD F. MORSE

HON. CHARLES I. BROWN

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was founded at Howard University in Washington, D.C., January 9, 1914, by three young African-American male students. The Founders, Honorable A. Langston Taylor, Honorable Leonard F. Morse, and Honorable Charles I. Brown, wanted to organize a Greek letter fraternity that would truly exemplify the ideals of brotherhood, scholarship, and service.

The Founders deeply wished to create an organization that viewed itself as “a part of” the general community rather than “apart from” the general community. They believed that each potential member should be judged by his own merits, rather than his family background or affluence...without regard to race, nationality, skin tone or texture of hair. They desired for their fraternity to exist as part of an even greater brotherhood which would be devoted to the “inclusive we” rather than the “exclusive we”.

From its inception, the Founders also conceived Phi Beta Sigma as a mechanism to deliver services to the general community. Rather than gaining skills to be utilized exclusively for themselves and their immediate families, they held a deep conviction that they should return their newly acquired skills to the communities from which they had come. This deep conviction was mirrored in the Fraternity’s motto, “Culture For Service and Service For Humanity”.

Today, Phi Beta Sigma has blossomed into an international organization of leaders. No longer a single entity, members of the Fraternity have been instrumental in the establishment of the Phi Beta Sigma National Foundation, the Phi Beta Sigma Federal Credit Union and The Sigma Beta Club Foundation. Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. founded in 1920 with the assistance of Phi Beta Sigma, is the sister organization of the Fraternity.

Appreciation

As the Chair of the Lambda Sigma Chapter Centennial Committee, I would like to thank all the brothers who were involved in the planning and execution of our many centennial activities. I am sure each brother will agree that our collective efforts brought us closer together, even though there were times when we questioned our reasoning for sticking with this mammoth project. But we all know, cream rises to the top and that's just what took place. Your contributions have been invaluable along with your devoted efforts to help promote the greatest fraternity and most prestigious chapter.

I am sure the brothers of Lambda Sigma Chapter are equally grateful for your commitment, hard work, time, talent, and expertise. This would not have happened without you!

LAMBDA SIGMA CHAPTER
PHI BETA SIGMA FRATERNITY, INC.

DR. J. W. E. LINDER

Lambda Sigma Chapter: “The Chapter Of Presidents” and The Crown Jewel of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.

Lambda Sigma Chapter was chartered with five members in 1924 through the efforts of alumni from Morris Brown College’s Zeta Chapter, the first collegiate chapter of the Fraternity in the Deep South, in 1919 and the first Black Greek Letter Organization below the Mason Dixon Line. Since that time, the brothers of Lambda Sigma Chapter have distinguished themselves as civic minded leaders and socially conscious men of influence. Lambda Sigma Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., “The Chapter of Presidents,” has an unsurpassed history of accomplishment, achievement, and service to the Fraternity, the city of Atlanta, the state of Georgia, and the nation. The chapter has been called the “Chapter of Presidents”, as FIVE past International Presidents have come from this chapter, (#10 Honorable Dr. Richard Billings, #12 Honorable Ras. O. Johnson, #14 Honorable Dr. George Hightower, #17 Honorable Roswell O. Sutton, and #28 Honorable William E. Stanley, Jr.). In addition, many other members of Lambda Sigma Chapter have served as state and regional officers of the Fraternity as well as International Board members and international program directors. As a result, it can fairly be said that we are the crown jewel of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.

Today, the brothers of Lambda Sigma Chapter carry on the historic legacy and exemplary accomplishments of the past. A diverse group of professional men, the members range in age from the 20s to 100. Honorable Charles Moore, Treasurer Emeritus, is 100 years young and the oldest active member in the entire Fraternity. As brotherhood, scholarship and service are in the forefront of everything we do, our work is never done. For example, the Chapter has adopted a school, provides scholarships for high school graduates and college students, and distributes cold weather gear for the homeless, these are just a few of our ongoing efforts. In addition, we work with a Sigma Beta Club, which is a youth auxiliary group established by the International Fraternity and serve as advisors to collegiate chapters on the campuses of the Georgia Institute of Technology, Georgia State University, and the University of West Georgia.

The motto of the Fraternity is “Culture for Service and Service for Humanity”. Because of this esteemed principle, the highest honor that the Fraternity can bestow upon a member for exemplary community and Fraternity service is election and elevation into its Distinguished Service Chapter. Membership into the Distinguished Service Chapter requires recommendations from a proposed member’s alumni chapter, his state and regional chapters, and the General Board. Finally, the recommendations must be approved and accepted by the vote of the Fraternity’s Conclave. Over the 110-year history of the Fraternity, only 206 brothers have been selected and elevated for this honor. Over the years, eleven of those designated “Honorable” brothers have been members of Lambda Sigma Chapter. Of the current five members of the Distinguished Service Chapter in Georgia, three members are from Lambda Sigma Chapter.

As Lambda Sigma Chapter brothers celebrate their 100th year anniversary, they look toward the future with a continued commitment to community service and the Fraternity’s three principles: “Brotherhood, Scholarship and Service”. The brothers of Lambda Sigma Chapter will also continue to exemplify and model the last verse of the Fraternity hymn:

*March on march on, ye mighty host,
Nor think the journey done,
Nor of future deeds to boast,
Till we’ve the victory won.
Then when we hear from time to time,
“Sigma, what of the day?”
We’ll thunder back along the line:
“Our cause speeds on its way.”*

We Salute

THE HONORABLE BROTHER

CHARLES W.

Moore, at age 100!

“THE LEADER, THE LEGEND, THE MAN”

The Honorable Brother Charles W. Moore has been a member of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., since 1948. In fact, he is the most senior financial member in the entire organization. With 75 years of active service and commitment to the organization, he is a man to be admired.

Charles Moore was born and raised in Macon, Georgia. With the guidance of his parents, he learned early the importance of education. During his formal education, he entered Hudson High School at the age of ten and graduated as the youngest student in his class at age fourteen, in 1938. After high school he worked various jobs until he was drafted into the U.S. Army in 1943, proudly serving his country for the next three years.

In 1946, after receiving an honorable discharge from military service, Brother Moore moved to Atlanta. He decided to give college a try and enrolled in a two-year program at Morris Brown College. He studied business, where he became proficient in bookkeeping, business, typing, shorthand, and other clerical skills. He then decided to continue his education by earning a Bachelor of Arts degree (cum laude) which he completed in 1950. He immediately went on to New York University Graduate School of Business Administration, where he earned his MBA. As he acquired this thirst for knowledge, he continued his studies at the University of Utah, Atlanta University, University of Omaha, and University of Georgia.

Charles served as the Chief Financial Officer at Morris Brown College for 15 years, he went on to work for the federal government, retired and went back to Morris Brown. During his tenure, the college experienced tremendous growth in enrollment and financial resources. He also served as the interim president of Morris Brown College, leaving a lasting impact on the institution. Charles received numerous awards and recognition for his work and leadership in his chosen profession and his community. One award for which he is most proud is being named Treasurer Emeritus of Phi Beta Sigma, after 20 years of continuous service to his beloved fraternity. With such an impeccable resume, it's easy to see why he's known as "The Leader, The Legend, The Man". At 100 years of age, he is a force to be reckoned with.

Brother Charles Moore married a fellow Morris Brown graduate. Together they had one daughter, two granddaughters, and two great grandsons.
